DEAN JOANN S. JAMANN

It was Cicero who noted that "the great affairs of life are not performed by physical strength, or activity, or nimbleness of body, but by deliberation, character, expression of opinion." JoAnn S. Jamann is a leader in this true sense. Her foresight and action have created a path of successful endeavors throughout her nursing career.

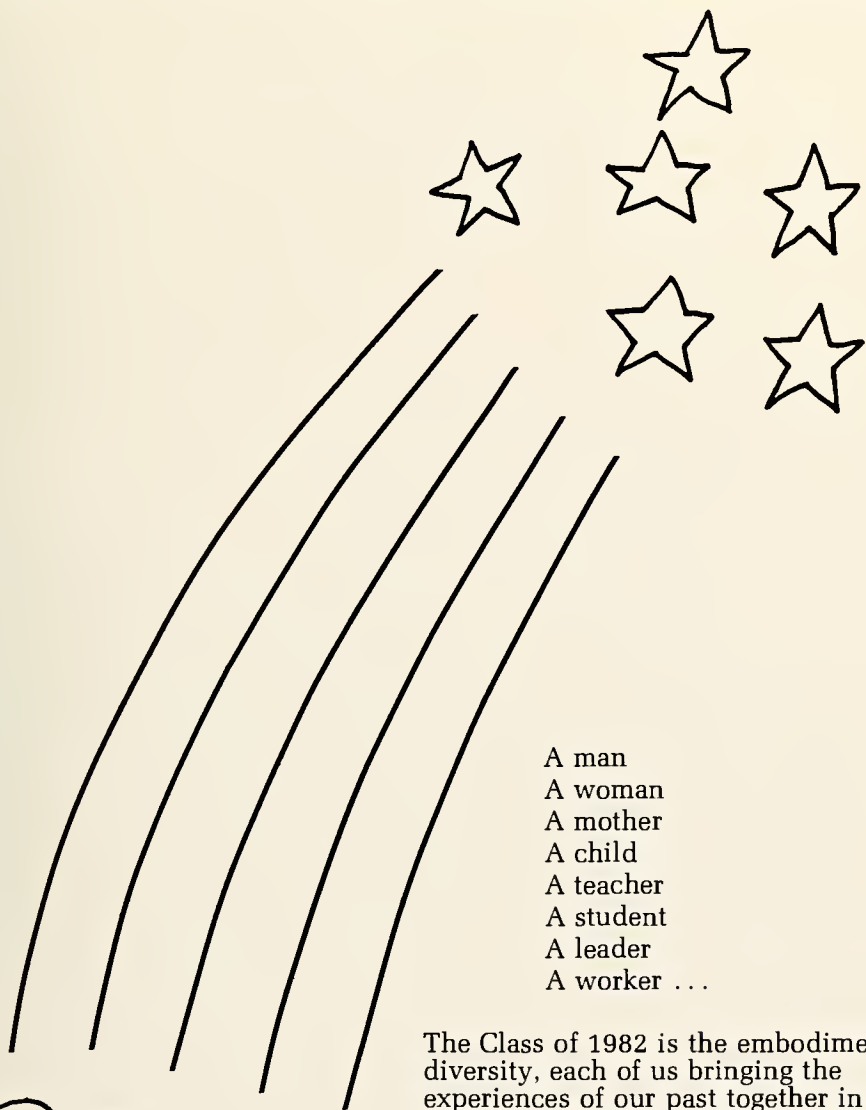

Dean Jamann is a pioneer in the development of graduate nursing programs and a specialist in gerontological nursing. She was project director in establishing the Doctor of Nursing Service programs at University of Pennsylvania and Rush University in Chicago. She was also responsible for the development of national professional forums on doctoral education. She was named dean of the School of Nursing on March 1, 1981 to succeed Helen F. Pettit, who served as associate dean.

"The potential of the nursing profession rests with its most highly educated leaders," said Dean Jamann in an interview. Also, "Columbia has a tradition of strong clinical nursing education. Our mission is to provide national and international leadership in nursing service, education, and research through sound graduate programs in clinical nursing."

This book of our past is dedicated to Dean Jamann — to her future, to the future of Columbia University's School of Nursing, and to their increasing excellence together.

A man
A woman
A mother
A child
A teacher
A student
A leader
A worker ...

The Class of 1982 is the embodiment of diversity, each of us bringing the experiences of our past together in these years, when we learned from each other, took and gave. It is this corporation of lives that this yearbook represents. We are the "melting pot" that is America's pride — a rainbow of characters who share a direction and an ideal.

Ode to the Bridge

With bright lights and majestic perfection
She beacons me
Calling out her simplicity and complexity
By just being.
I stare, mesmerized by its presence
knowing ...
That it has brought me here
And will take me home — again.

A COAT

I made my song a coat
 Covered with embroideries
 Out of old mythologies
 From heel to throat;
 But the fools caught it,
 Wore it in the world's eyes
 As though they'd wrought it.
 Song, let them take it,
 For there's more enterprise
 In walking naked.

... A person must liberate himself from confinement within his private concerns. This pervades his whole being so that all his thoughts focus only on his own destiny. It is necessary, however, to raise a person's thought and will and his basic preoccupations toward universality to the inclusion of all, to the whole world, to man, to all existence. This will result in establishing even his private self on a proper basis.

 ourselves*

*We discovered . . .
the wealth of knowledge we've yet to learn*

*We accomplished . . .
even though we didn't always feel we did
Realizing and knowing . . .
the deep satisfaction
when you have really helped someone*

*So we came . . .
we learned
we grew*

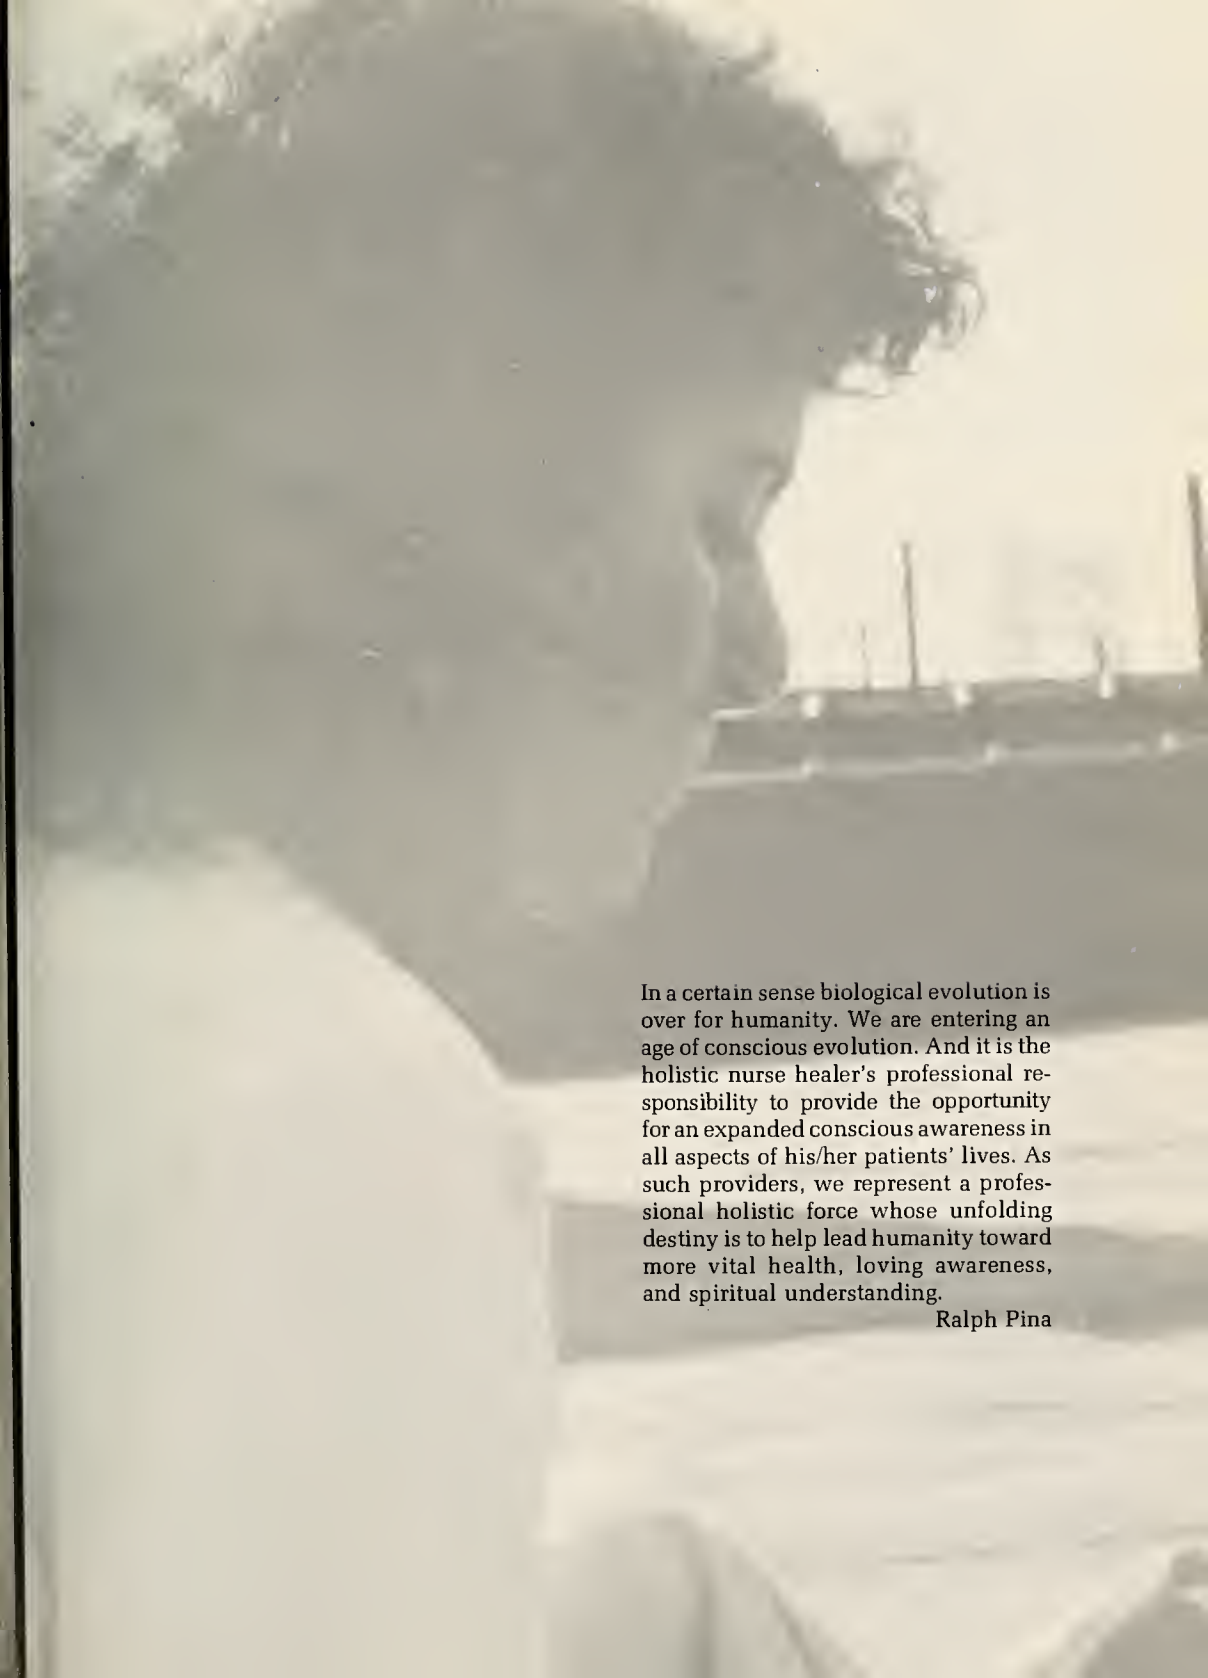

*So from here as nurses . . .
once again we move on to different places
encountering and discovering more things to learn new challenges to face
to continue on with our lives*

*Building on our past and present
we'll take a new step going further . . .*

In a certain sense biological evolution is over for humanity. We are entering an age of conscious evolution. And it is the holistic nurse healer's professional responsibility to provide the opportunity for an expanded conscious awareness in all aspects of his/her patients' lives. As such providers, we represent a professional holistic force whose unfolding destiny is to help lead humanity toward more vital health, loving awareness, and spiritual understanding.

Nsg. dx: Lingering ANXIETY related to end of term, but inability to accept this fact.
ST goal: Immediate ~~biomedical~~ treatment of anxiety.
LT goal: Return client(s) to optimum state of mental well-being.

Plans: - Encourage attendance at social functions.
 - In terms of medication (eg., Ectop), it will be provided.
 - Encourage client to supply & consume preferred junk food.
 (BYOT: Bring your own junk!)
 - Inform client about therapeutic milieu -- time: Tuesday, May 5. 4 pm until -- ?

 (Ft. Wash. at 171st St.)

persons: Mary Beth, Charlotte, Donna

Rationale: "Life is LUSURE -- not nursing." (from Basic Nursing: A Psychophysiologic Approach. L+S.)

Evaluations: Anxiety reduced as evidenced by:
 - client's participation in social activities.
 - relaxed facial expression
 - no indulgence in nursing talk.
 - disoriented x 3.

Days of classes are actually finished,
 Each of us calmer, anxiety diminished,
 Venting our frustrations on family and friends —
 Indubitably, the means didn't justify the ends.
 Although NHCDS and HP were amusing,
 Tapping Devs was absolutely bruising.
 Irrate yet determined we tried our best,
 Overcome by readings and ongoing stress,
 Never missing the chance for verbal protest,
 Sending our nerves into neurological distress.

In spite of it all, we have survived —
 Sun and fun, no longer deprived!

Done are the days of care plans pressing Observing, Auscultating, Percussing, and Assessing
 Nurses we are with all that it means
 Ending one chapter, beginning new dreams.

. . . A nurse can know as much as, and she can know more than, a physician, but she uses the knowledge toward goals of nursing care, which are different from the goals of medical care. The formal object of medicine is disease, the diagnosis and treatment thereof; whereas the formal object of nursing is the person—body, mind and soul.

Fostering mother with robes flowing stone
A statue of judgement you appear to await
Knowing when to punish or when to condone
And if it avails to play with our fate.
We struggle in search of one secret you bear,
Remaining a legend and rightly obscure
It's hidden so well, so burdened with care
That in finding the owl we must feel assured
Wisdom prevails upon those who search
When all intent in us is rendered to find
The solemn eyed owl steady in perch
And discovered at last to strengthen the mind.

Look beyond statues, no longer youths
When to discover the smallest of truths.

The Student Government Association functions to provide a vehicle for the expression of student views and interests, to facilitate the administration of student affairs, and to cooperate and coordinate with faculty and administration in cultivating the general intellectual and professional standards of the School. Each undergraduate student is a member of the Association. The S.G.A. provides input to such areas as Student Health Services, Curriculum development, Admissions criteria, Long Library, Security, and the University Senate. The Association has also supported student participation in programs such as the 1981 International Council of Nurses Quadriennial Convention in Los Angeles and the 1981 Nurse Lobby Day in Washington, D.C.

The School of Nursing of Columbia University has established a creative, informative journal as of June 1981 under the direction of Dean Jamann. This semi-annual report provides a valuable nursing communication dealing with various topics from community outreach, research, patient teaching to student life. The editions herald a commitment to communication and public awareness — essential to the growth of the nursing profession.

Shoshana Society

The Shoshana Society was chartered in September of 1980 as an organization dedicated to the proliferation of Jewish tradition and culture on the Health Science campus. This organization provides an arena for social and political caucuses where any student can become more familiar with world issues, national topics, and city-wide happenings. The Shoshana Society sponsors guest lecture series on topics such as Falashan Jewry Modern Israel, and the Sabbath and Medicine. Holiday get-togethers on Chanukah, Purim, and Tu B'Av also highlighted the social year. The Goal of the Shoshana Society is to increase the Jewish awareness on the Health Science campus.

*The more you know about Nursing
...the more you appreciate Rush*

The Symbol of Rush backing up our Nurses truly represents the Rush Philosophy. Nursing here has always had a high priority position. In recognition Rush was given a grant that established the Kellogg National Center for Excellence in Nursing. The first of its kind in the country it seeks to address professional and academic concerns of national scope and consequence to patient care and Nursing.

Building upon the accomplishments of the Rush system, the Kellogg Center seeks to elevate the professional standards of Nursing by educating leaders and by advancing knowledge. The Rush program has been widely acclaimed as a national model for quality care. The Rush system provides tremendous opportunity for growth at all levels. Staff Nurses work with Practitioner Teachers and a cooperative Medical Staff; all benefit from the support the system provides. Primary Care establishes the Nurses responsibility and commitment to patient care. The beginning Nurse benefits from planned orientation and excellent role models. Our professional staff is rewarded with an excellent salary and benefit package. For more information about a Nursing career at Rush, or to arrange for a tour, call: 312-942-5958.

Nursing Professionals at... St. Luke's Roosevelt Hospital

A New West Side Story

This is a true success story — the story of two medical facilities merging to become the largest single voluntary hospital in the City of New York. A hospital distinguished not only by the 500-square-block scope of its primary service area, but also by the high calibre of its services, such as the Open Heart Unit, Renal Transplant and the progressive OB Services which offers Birthing Rooms for the clients.

Today, St. Luke's-Roosevelt is a 1,363-bed facility employing a full time staff of 5,500. Between the two campuses, just ten minutes apart by shuttle bus, we offer a full range of primary and acute care services. Our commitment to primary care allows the nurse to have an integral role in patient care. In addition, the environment encourages an exchange of ideas between staff and administration.

Openings currently exist in:

- CRITICAL CARE
- OPEN HEART

UNIQUE FEATURES

United Hospital takes pride in its challenging concept of primary nursing. Under this concept, nurses are completely responsible for the care of specific patients, from admission to discharge. For the nurses, this means care based on the individual needs of patients. For the patients, it means an improved mental attitude derived from confidence in the nurses' personal attention, with faster recovery, and improved health maintenance following discharge. We offer you the opportunity to practice nursing in a progressive acute-care center where satisfaction can be both yours and your patients'.

GENERAL

Voluntary, nonprofit general hospital founded in 1889; 308 beds, serving 6 surrounding Westchester communities; over 900 employees.

Accredited by the J.C.H.A.; member of the A.H.A., Hospital Association of New York State and Northern Metropolitan Hospital Association.

Affiliated with 7 leading Eastern universities.

FACILITIES

Full range of patient services including medical, surgical, obstetrics, gynecology, emergency room with a full-time physician panel, operating rooms, recovery room, ICU, CCU, pediatrics, psychiatry, ambulatory clinics, physical therapy, respiratory therapy, home health agency and hospice program.
